

Welcome

Lübbenau/Spreewald (Sorbian/Wendish – Lubnjow/Blota)

extends alongside the southern edge of the scenic Oberspreewald. This town is the most favoured starting point for the fabulous punt tours or for individual boat trips. Lübbenau has got an historic part of town and a new town district – right between those you will find the train station.

The historic centre has its origin as a farming town. Sights, punt tours, boat rentals as well as restaurants can be found throughout the lovely alleys.

The new town district was shaped by the energy and mining industry. You will find here shopping facilities and numerous sports and recreational facilities. Interesting facts about Lübbenau and the Spreewald can be experienced during our city tours. Here you get themes such as the history of the city, historical facts about the castle park, stories from the mythological world or from the life of the night watchman in Lehde presented in a factual and cheerful way.

A magical water scape

The Spreewald – a unique natural and cultural landscape – was declared as a biosphere reserve in 1990 and achieved UNESCO status in 1991.

The meadowy countryside (48.400 ha) is traversed by a net of streams (1.575 km of waterways), fields, grassland and wood. In total, 260 km of those streams are accessible and quite worth a tour by punt or boat. During a punt tour, the flowing labyrinth can be experienced today as 100 years ago.

The punt tours are mainly round tours and lead to places like Lehde, Leipe, the restaurant “Wotschofska” as well as into the heart of the “Spreewald”, the High Forrest.

On a boat trip you go for your own individual expedition. A canoe trail map with route suggestions is recommended and will help you along the way.

Spreewald gherkin

Today, the gherkin is the trademark and synonym of the Spreewald. The genuine Lübbenau Spreewald gherkins are available in our five gherkin pickling manufactories. The crunchy vegetable is refined following traditional recipes with fresh dill, onions and herbs as well as many fine ingredients.

Each company has its own secret recipe which is based on a 100-year family tradition. The sales stands of the gherkin pickling manufactories can be found on the gherkin mile at the big harbor. Here you can also just taste and decide which gherkin is your favorite. During the „Gherkin tour“ you have the opportunity to discover what a gherkin plant is and finally a guided tour of the Rabe Company will give you insights into the processing of gherkins. This guided bike tour is about 35 km in length. The schedule can be found on the website: www.luebbenau-spreewald.com

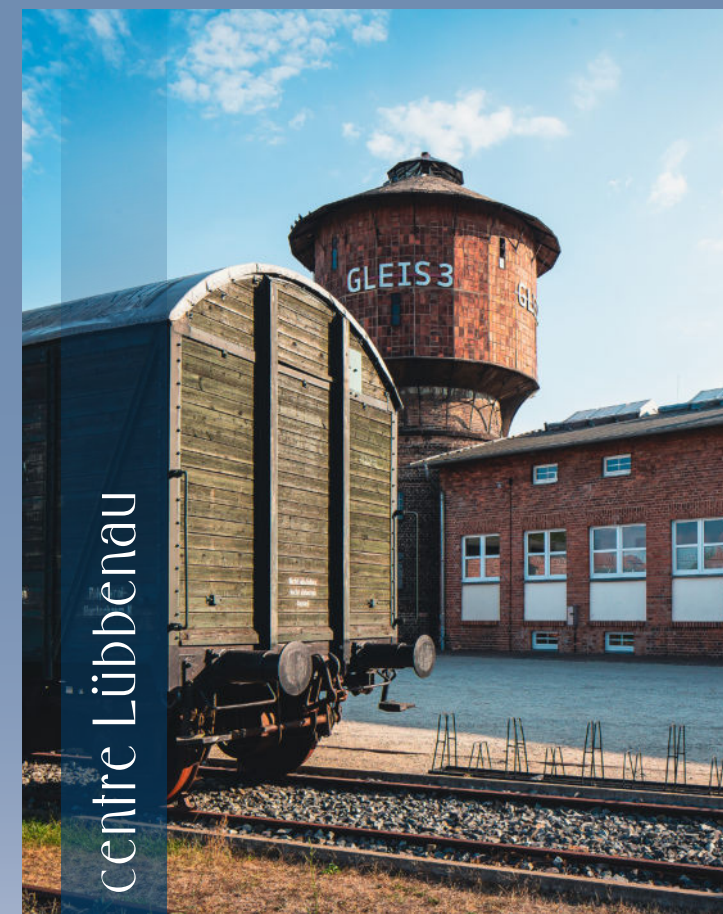

Our Spreewald villages

Lehde (Lědy)

About two kilometers from Lübbenau you will reach probably the most famous Spreewald village, Lehde. Due to the variety of historically valuable block houses, Lehde is entirely under monumental protection. Here you can find the only gherkin museum, as well as the oldest outdoor museum in Brandenburg with its historical farm houses, true to original furnished parlours and typical handcraft.

Leipe (Lipe)

The name of this village contains the Lower Sorbian word lime tree. Two Spree arms flow around the island, around whose outer edge 20 m long farm houses (living area and stables combined) line up. The Spreewald village Leipe is to be reached by the scenic European Trail (E10), about 6,5 km from Lübbenau.

GLEIS 3 - cultural centre Lübbenau

The Gleis 3 (Rail 3) Cultural Centre is a platform for leisure, music and theatre in Lübbenau.

It is situated in the middle of the town, directly at the train station, in the historic building complex of the former depot. The family brand GLEIS 3 combines three strong partners: LÜBBENAUBRÜCKE (innovative urban development and networking), Kulturhof (multicultural concert stage) as well as the theatre Bunte Bühne (theatre and cabaret). The diverse focus, vicinity and collaboration of these facilities accomplish an intensive cultural offer for citizens and guests.

The Gleis 3 Cultural Centre is a place for all interests and generations: From theater and cabaret performances to rock concerts and dance to creative offerings and continuing education, a wide variety of events take place here every day.
